DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the sieve (upstand) supported by projections, as recited in claim 6; the sieve (upstand) extending across the discharge opening, as recited in claim 10; and the mesh sieve (upstand), recited in claim 11 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claims 10-12 are objected to because of the following informalities: the language “of anyone of” used in claims 10-12 is not appropriate. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear, in claim 6, how the upstand could be supported by projections. It is unclear, in claim 10 how the upstand extends across the discharge opening. It is unclear, in claim 11, how the upstand can be formed of mesh. The sieve being defined as an upstand is shown and described to be a vertically extending member having spaces which form apertures.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3-5, 8, 9, 12 and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dijis.

There is disclosed in Dijs a coffee maker having a brewing chamber 6 and a filter support (bottom surface) 8 for supporting a filter 20, 22 of a filter cartridge 4 in the brewing chamber at a defined position, the filter support comprising: a discharge opening 12, 34 for discharging brewed coffee from the chamber; and a sieve between the defined position and the discharge opening, the sieve having apertures that allow brewed beverage to pass, but that are the same width or narrower than the discharge opening, wherein the sieve comprises upstands (projections) 46 located over a filter support surface, which surround the discharge opening, the apertures of the sieve being formed by the spaces between each projection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dijs.

Dijs, as discussed above, discloses all of the claimed subject matter except for the recited aperture size and discharge opening size range.

In regards to claim 2, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to construct the projections of Dijs such that the apertures therebetween are around 0.5 mm wide, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art.

In regards to claim 13, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to construct the discharge opening of Dijs such that it is between 0.75 mm and 0.9 mm wide, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art.

Claims 6, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dijs in view of Weber.

Weber discloses that it is known in the art to mount a mesh 29 upon projections 39 within a brewing chamber.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the brewing chamber of Dijs with the mesh taught in Weber, in order to further prevent beverage material from mixing with a brewed product.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Tellander, Pope and Cirigliano et al. are cited for their disclosure of the state of the art.
